

THE 2008 MENTEES:

(listed with their home country and mentor's company)

Lorena Piazze
ARGENTINA
Ernst & Young

Clarisa Eseiza
ARGENTINA
ING

Graciela Unzueta
Mercado
BOLIVIA
Resources Global Professionals

Chao Sun
CHINA
Time Inc.

Nayera Atta
EGYPT
Avaya

Nermeen Nosseir
EGYPT
Exxon Mobil

Sashi Kiran
FIJI
Microsoft

Juliet Asante
GHANA
Lifetime
Paley Center for Media

Brigitte Dzoghbenuku
GHANA
WNBA

Suma Krishnaswamy
INDIA
DuPont

Tinung Sulistyani
INDONESIA
Chrysler

Maali Qasem
JORDAN
Goldman Sachs

Raychelle Injete
Najimesi
KENYA
Publicis-USA

Aigul Asakeeva
KYRGYZ REPUBLIC
KPMG

Dima Sharaffdeen
Husseini
LEBANON
CARE USA

Lucy Kanu
NIGERIA
Exxon Mobil

Shama Khan
PAKISTAN
Merrill Lynch

Ayesha Kamran
PAKISTAN
William Morris Agency

Paola González
PERU
Wal-Mart Stores

Gladys Zarak
PERU
Color Force

Anna Karaszewska
POLAND
United Health
Group/RAND

Danuta Czakjka
POLAND
Yale University

Tatyana Voloshina
RUSSIA
Solera Capital
iVillage/NBC Universal

Alexandra Bulgakova
RUSSIA
Xerox

Marija Nikolic
SERBIA
JWT

Ana Vljajic
SERBIA
Affiliated Computer
Services, Inc.

Andrea Brbaklic
SERBIA
Hill and Knowlton

Phici Mbatha
SOUTH AFRICA
Graziadio School of Business

Zoë Ka Sali-Duma
SOUTH AFRICA
Avon Products

Lerato Mmutlana
SOUTH AFRICA
Skadden, Arps, Slate,
Meagher & Flom

Anoja Arunajani
Obeyesekere
SRI LANKA
Fulbright & Jaworski

Subira Mchumo
TANZANIA
Herman Miller

Shuaa Marrar
WEST BANK/GAZA
The Nielsen Co.

Jessie Muzvidzwa
ZIMBABWE
Wells Fargo

Rosinah Hove
ZIMBABWE
GE Enterprise Solutions

THE GOLDMAN SACHS & FORTUNE GLOBAL WOMEN LEADERS AWARD

CELEBRATING THE POWER OF WOMEN

Three years ago, Fortune and the U.S. State Department launched the Global Women Leaders Mentoring Partnership, which brings rising-star women from developing countries to the U.S. every May to work closely with participants of the annual Fortune Most Powerful Women Summit. Eight months ago, Goldman Sachs launched 10,000 Women, a global philanthropic initiative to provide 10,000 women, mostly from developing markets, with a business and management education. The initiative is investing in the exponential power of women as entrepreneurs and managers, guided by the knowledge that extending more opportunity to women is one of the most powerful means to greater economic growth.

In October, Fortune and Goldman Sachs joined forces to recognize two rising stars who best applied lessons from the mentoring program back at home, and who best represent the multiplier effect of investing in women. Fortune Editor at Large Pattie Sellers and Goldman Sachs Chairman and CEO Lloyd Blankfein honored the co-recipients of the first Goldman Sachs & Fortune Global Women Leaders Award at the Fortune Most Powerful Women Summit: Eva Muraya and Phyllis Mwangi.

Eva Muraya is CEO of Color Creations Ltd., a communications business. She also heads the Zawadi Africa Education Fund, the Kenya Association of Women Business Owners, and the BE.Campaign, which helps unemployed Kenyan youth create retail enterprises.

Phyllis Mwangi is founder and CEO of Edge Consult Ltd., an HR training and consulting firm, and runs a girls' mentorship program and leadership camp. She is also founder of Zahiria, a nonprofit craft business that employs poor Kenyan women and markets their products in the U.S.

Eva and Phyllis proudly share this award to work together to advance their inspiring ideas and impressive programs in Kenya.

Left to right:
Eva Muraya,
Phyllis Mwangi.

10,000^{WOMEN}

Goldman
Sachs

Fortune thanks the U.S. State Department, Vital Voices, and the Most Powerful Women Summit participants who mentored. To learn more about this program, go to www.vitalvoices.org or www.postcards.blogs.fortune.cnn.com